The challenges: Competing in a crowded market

01

High Competition

New York's legal market is saturated with firms investing heavily in ads, making it challenging for smaller firms to secure prime digital real estate.

02

High Cost Per Click (CPC)

Legal keywords have some of the highest CPCs in the industry, driving up advertising costs without guaranteed conversions.

03

Low Lead Quality

Their generic campaigns often resulted in unqualified leads, wasting budget and resources instead of attracting high-value clients.

Our Approach

---

01.

We segmented the audience to target high-intent individuals actively searching for legal representation, ensuring Daniel's ads reached the right prospects at the right time.

02.

We optimized the campaign spend by adjusting bids and ad placements, reducing the cost-per-click while maximizing visibility and lead generation.

03.

We continuously monitored campaign performance, using real-time data to refine strategies, resulting in higher-quality leads and a significant boost in conversions.

CLIENT GROWTH

The campaign drove exceptional growth, connecting the firm to new, high-value clients and building long-term case pipelines.

REVENUE IMPACT

The targeted PPC strategy resulted in a substantial boost in monthly revenue, with consistent lead-to-client conversions.

MARKET PRESENCE

With top visibility on Google search, the firm became a dominant name in personal injury law searches, surpassing local competitors.
